

Landsome Interior of the New M. H. Walker Residence

Living-Hall Showing the Pipes of the Aeolian.

Many beautiful homes have been erected in this city's attractions in the past few years, but for artistic effects and new residence of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Walker is second to none. Originality combined with art and comfort have been worked together into a most pleasing interior, and what the exterior is to the passer-by the interior is to the hospitable home. The entrance-hall is roomy and artistic, but has no hint to the glories within. It is the living-hall that one enters next, then comes the revelation in home-making. This living-hall is seventy feet long with its roof of stained glass under the roof of the building. To the east is the den, northeast, the dining-room, west, the conservatory, the library, and south, the kitchen, a manse, gallery, stairway, and a pipe-organ. Each of these rooms has its own distinctiveness and most careful attention has been given to little details, color, scheme, and fidelity in carrying out the idea. The architecture of the room or the design of the decorations represent. The living-hall has a roof of glass, with great bays of grapes and vines. This roof slopes south, and the effect is charming. The sunlight by electric lights hidden in the attic through this glass for those below, dark woodwork and gallery fit in perfectly and give the appearance of the old feudal hall. The tone mantle, the quotation, "Euse, West, we're the Best." Words cannot describe the whole house, but all who have entered that hall have come away with pictures in their memories. Walker has just had installed in living-hall the largest Aeolian pipe-organ ever built for a house west of the great coast and shipped here, for weeks Mr. G. P. Deering has been working with him two weeks on the organ for three weeks. It is an immense affair, the fourth largest organ in the city. Its console on the north side of the great hall, the pipes and machinery are in place back of the mantle and reach to the roof. To show how large the space occupied by the pipe-organ, it is 18 feet long, 5 feet wide and 23 feet high. This console includes the console over the organ, the longest pipe is sixteen feet and the shortest three-fourths of an inch. The library for the attachment comes with all the modern and classic organs, and Mr. Walker is already enjoying the great pleasure from the instrument, which is simply perfect and the best of its kind ever exhibited in a western home.

Sons and Daughters of Pioneers to Hold Their Reunion at American Fork

Special to The Tribune.
AMERICAN FORK, July 23.—The Sons and Daughters of the 1847 pioneers will hold their seventh annual reunion at American Fork on July 25 of this year. The members of the general committee are J. L. Brown, Mrs. J. B. Keeler, Mrs. C. A. Glazier, Mrs. T. N. Taylor, Mrs. L. O. Taft and Charles E. Decker. While this is their seventh annual reunion, it promises to be the most noted and successful of all previous attempts.

Hon. Reed Smoot, President.

Mrs. Grace L. Cheever, Secretary.

Committees in Charge.
Great credit can be given the general committee for the systematic way in which the plans and preparations for this historical reunion have been carried out, and much consideration is due the local committees for the energetic manner in which they have executed the preliminary arrangements. The following persons have charge of the different arrangements: J. L. Chapman, general chairman; J. B. Keeler, chairman assessment committee; Mrs. Annie Hunter, chairman banquet committee; Jacob Greenwood, chairman on decorations; James T. Gardner, chairman decoration committee; and Thomas J. Chipman, chairman on signs and badges.

Under the auspices of the chairman of the assessment and donation committees a sufficient sum was collected to move than make the day a success. As this is the first reunion of this nature planned for American Fork, the citizens are determined to make it a big social success. One of the most important of the arrangements is the preparation for the banquet, but under the management of Mrs. Annie H. Hunter, a banquet equal to anything served in the State, considering quality and quantity, has been arranged for 1000 guests. The feast decorations have been artistically designed by James T. Gardner and are sufficient to arouse the patriotism of any person.

Presented With Badges.
The Sons and Daughters of the Pioneers will arrive over the Rio Grande Western railroad, which will run special trains and make out rates from all points to American Fork. They will arrive at 9 o'clock and from the train will proceed to the Apollo, where they will be presented, on entering the hall, with a badge.

Some of the noted guests who have been invited are President Joseph F. Smith, the apostles, J. Golden Kimball, Gov. Heber M. Wells and his staff officers. At 10 o'clock, after all have assembled at the Apollo, the following program will be rendered: Song—"Oh, Ye Mountains High," by congregation. Duet—By American Fork. Address of welcome—Maj. James H. Clark. Response—President Reed Smoot. Song—By Spanish Fork. "Providence of God Over Our Pioneer Fathers," J. Golden Kimball. Recitation—"The First Settler's Story," W. E. Clarke. Benediction—By chaplain. The number assigned to Miss Gates will be given by either Miss Emma Ramsey or Arvid Clark, either of whom is among Utah's most noted singers, owing to Miss Gates taking a rest from singing. Social Handshake. From 12 to 1 o'clock a social handshake will be indulged in, also in seeing the sights of the town. And from 1 to 2 o'clock a grand banquet will be indulged in, which will be furnished and served by the Sons and Daughters of the American Fork Pioneers. After the banquet beginning at 3 o'clock, dancing will be indulged in until 6 o'clock, when the departing trains will carry back to their homes those who have made merry and rejoice in a well spent reunion. The officers of the association of the Sons and Daughters of the 1847 Pioneers are as follows: Reed Smoot, president; John C. Thomas, vice-president; Mrs. Grace L. Cheever, secretary, and Ammon Nebeker, treasurer. The board of directors are J. L. Brown, J. G. Coblin and James Gardner, the latter of Spanish Fork. Mrs. Grace L. Cheever is a daughter of Pioneer George A. Smith of Provo. During the afternoon a game of baseball will be played between the Provo team and a local nine. There is never a crowd at Salt Lake. BABE DEAD AND MOTHER PENNILESS Sad Situation of Mrs. Pfeiffer, Who Arrived in This City Yesterday.

Mrs. Grace L. Cheever, Secretary.

Alone in a strange city, with her two small children and a dead babe, and absolutely penniless, is the sad situation of Mrs. J. L. Pfeiffer, who arrived in Salt Lake at an early hour yesterday morning. Mrs. Pfeiffer left St. Louis about a week ago in company with her husband, a railroad man, bound for this city to secure employment. They were accompanied by their three children, a boy and girl 4 and 6 years old and an infant. On the way the babe was taken ill and the entire family stopped, at in Kansas City and again at Colorado Springs, to secure medical treatment for the little one. Finally, on account of his funds running low, Mr. Pfeiffer left the wife and children at Colorado Springs to continue alone the journey to this city in the hope of finding work. The child did not improve, but after a few days the mother, finding herself at the end of her resources, started for this place having heard from her husband. She reached the city at 1 o'clock yesterday morning with just 10 cents in her pocketbook, no one to meet her and the babe in a dying condition. She reported her trouble to Paulman Clive and quarters were secured for her at a rooming-house in the Culmer block. The babe died at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. The case was taken in charge yesterday by Justice of the Peace Frank H. Clark, who arranged for the burial of the remains of the child and provided temporary relief for the mother and her two other children. It is not known yet whether the husband and father is here or whether he may have gone to some other town to seek employment, but it is hoped that he will be found in a few days. Mrs. Pfeiffer is thoroughly dazed by grief and the helplessness of her situation, and her case is one which should reach the hearts of the charitable and enlist their aid.

TO ENFORCE ORDINANCE.

Health Board Insists on Making Sewer Connections.

In accordance with the new city ordinance, which says: "It shall be unlawful for the owner, agent or occupant of property abutting the sewer system embraced within the limits of the sewer districts of Salt Lake City to fail to immediately remove and fill up all vaults and cesspools on such property, and make connections with the sewer system." City Physician Wilcox and the Board of Health have begun a raid on all the delinquents, and from now on it is their intention to file suit after suit until every property owner lives up to the requirements specified in the ordinance. One reason which strongly impels the health officers to take this rigid stand is the coming on of the hot weather, and they are unwilling to take any chances as regards the health of the community. At the present time there are many residences right in the heart of town which have no sewer connections, and the health officials feel that a continuation of such conditions is truly jeopardizing. During the past week warrants were issued for the arrest of the following alleged delinquents: David B. Hempstead, E. N. La Froben and John Linck, and a number of warrants will be sworn out next Tuesday. In many cases, as in some of the above, the owners have preferred to pull down their old shacks instead of spending the large sum necessary to make the connections. In some cases the cost of making the improvements has actually exceeded the valuation of the house.
